WELCOME TO THE BIGGEST MARITIME EXHIBITION IN THE MIDDLE EAST

This event preview shows you what to expect at the 9th edition of Seatrade Maritime Middle East, the region’s biggest maritime exhibition.

Part of UAE Maritime Week, held under the patronage of His Highness Sheikh Hamdan bin Mohammed bin Rashid Al Maktoum, Crown Prince of Dubai, UAE, Seatrade Maritime Middle East is expected to welcome over 8,000 visitors and over 200 exhibitors, together representing more than 90 countries. The free-to-attend conference sessions will cover key themes including: autonomous shipping and automation, fuels of the future, digital and cyber technologies and environmental challenges. Invaluable networking opportunities with key ship owners, operators and maritime industry influencers.

Our interactions with the most influential experts, decision-makers, visitors and vendors in the sector has proved to be extremely valuable, and we look forward to carrying forward this positive momentum for next year.

Dr. Khaled Al Mazrouei, CEO of Abu Dhabi Ship Building

Why visit?

1. Meet and develop relationships with the governmental and regulatory authorities that are stimulating growth in the region.

2. Learn more about the ambitions of the UAE, the latest Category B member of the IMO Council.

3. Network with the region’s largest ports (including the third-largest port company in the world - DP World).

4. Meet the biggest shipbuilders and ship repairers in the Middle East.

5. Gain access to a network of world-class regional equipment and service providers.

6. Unlock the potential benefits of regional ship financing and banking expertise.

NEW FOR 2018 - Seatrade Parliamentary Debate

Monday 29 October 2018. 1430 - 1600hrs Sponsored by

Motion: "This House believes that the shipping industry is not ready to embrace smart shipping". Smart Shipping has the potential to transform the fundamentals of ship operation, with digital technology and big data driving radical new solutions up to and including autonomous ships.

But what does the industry actually want from these new technologies, how real are the efficiencies they offer and what changes to the regulatory framework would be needed prior to significant implementation?

The debate at Seatrade Maritime Middle East will bring together six leading regional and global figures from the industry to debate these fundamental questions. Three will speak for the motion and three against it. This will be followed by a floor debate involving members of the audience and then, following a summary of the arguments on both sides, a vote will be taken on the motion.

DAY 1: Monday 29 October 2018

Opening Ceremony
1145hrs

Smart Ports and Smart Carriers
1200 - 1330hrs

In association with

Prominent players in the region's maritime and logistics sector will join technology innovators to debate the industry's pathway towards digitalization, and what the new revolutionary technologies may mean for the future.

For the latest conference agenda and speaker updates please visit:

www.seatrade-middleeast.com/agenda

DAY 2: Tuesday 30 October 2018

Decommissioning of Offshore Platforms
1430 - 1600hrs

In association with

The effective decommissioning of aging offshore platforms, subsea wells, and related assets is one of the most important technical and business challenges facing the oil and gas industry today and in the future. More than 600 decommissioning projects are expected to be disposed of during the next five years worldwide. Decommissioning project opportunities exist in the Middle East, Caspian, Angola, Nigeria, North Sea and GOM.

Original Intelligence: Maritime's Human Backbone
1500 - 1555hrs

In association with

In a world of headlines dominated by autonomy, artificial intelligence and the Internet of Things, "people" can be easily forgotten. This session discusses the importance of the human element in maritime safety, security and environmental protection.

Can Going Green Save the Green?
1605 - 1700hrs

In association with

The IMO has agreed to cut shipping's total GHG emissions by 50% by 2050 and pursue efforts to phase out these emissions altogether. While some industry bodies praised the strategy, others criticized it for not being ambitious or direct enough in outlining decarbonisation measures.

DAY 3: Wednesday 31 October 2018

The Evolution of Regulation: Maritime Arbitration in the GCC
0830 - 1300hrs

Hosted by

The conference will consist of a half-day programme looking at a full range of maritime regulatory and arbitration updates from each of the key GCC countries.

Japan Day - Japan Ship Machinery and Equipment Seminar
1100 - 1700hrs

Sponsored by

Hosted by Middle East Fuji and Japan Ship Machinery and Equipment Association (JSMEA).

The Power of Gender Diversity
1400 - 1600hrs

In association with

Seminar by Women's International Shipping & Trading Association (WISTA), UAE Branch.

Conference programme subject to change.

28 OCTOBER – 1 NOVEMBER 2018

The fourth edition of UAE Maritime Week is set to promote the UAE's global status as a first class maritime destination and enhance Dubai's competitiveness as one of the world's leading maritime clusters – reinforced recently with news that Dubai has moved for the first time into the top five in the International Shipping Centre Development Index (ISCD), which is compiled by the Baltic Exchange.

H.E. Sultan Ahmed Bin Sulayem
Chairman of Dubai Ports, Customs and Free Zone
Chairman of Dubai Maritime City Authority (DMCA)

“The UAE Maritime Week forms part of our tireless efforts to create a global profile for and enhance the competitiveness of Dubai's maritime sector. The event is an important national platform that allows for the exploration of the industry's future in a bid to position the UAE as the world's most competitive, comprehensive, and exclusive maritime center.”

Amer Ali
Executive Director
Dubai Maritime City Authority (DMCA)

“The UAE Maritime Week 2018 will bring together multiple stakeholders to collaborate and contribute to the progress of maritime industry and, by extension, their own businesses. As part of the UAE Maritime Week, Seatrade Maritime Middle East will contribute immensely to this momentous event by providing the perfect platform to network and promote the participants' products and services to the widest audience possible. We look forward to another year of the successful event designed to serve the needs of the regional and international shipping and maritime communities of the future.”
